

TELECOMMUNICATIONS

A HORIZON HOUSE PUBLICATION □ JUNE, 1967

Mans' Communication
"HIEROGLYPHICS TO SATELLITES"

Communications Technology is a subject of great importance to today's society. The engineering developments are coming at a rapid rate while the ability of our business, industrial and military agencies using these new tools is limited by the available information regarding new techniques.

Horizon House, publishers of the Microwave Journal, Microwave Engineers' Handbook and Electronic Communicator, is taking another step in the field of technical publishing by introducing a completely new magazine entitled "Telecommunications" to add a new service and dimension to the business press.

"Telecommunications" (TCS®) will be an engineering publication. It will cover the all important subjects of "Handling, Processing, Transmission and Display" of information. It will be distributed internationally.

Articles will be carefully reviewed by an established board of industry experts. Some of them are:

Sidney Topol, General Manager, Raytheon CADPO

Edward F. Tuck, Assistant Director — Transmission Development
International Tel. & Tel. Corp.

John W. Lazur, Technical Director-Communications
The Mitre Corporation

Lawrence W. Gardenhire, Manager - Advanced Communications
Radiation, Inc.

James S. McLeod, V.P. & Director of Engineering
Page Communications Engineers, Inc.

Wilbur S. Pritchard, Group Director Com/Sat

There will be other features, such as application notes, product and industry news. This will be a carefully edited, practical magazine designed to bring buyer and supplier together over the entire range of communications subjects.

"Telecommunications" will be issued FREE of charge to engineers, management personnel, communications supervisors and staff who manufacture as well as use communications equipment.

Why not fill out the enclosed qualification card and ensure receipt of the publication starting with January 1968.

A special invitation is extended to all readers outside the North American Continent to send in their subscription cards for TCS (qualified people receive the issue free, also).

The staff of Horizon House, publishers of the "microwave journal" are proud to announce our new publication —

TELECOMMUNICATIONS

This magazine has been created to provide technical editorial to the users and designers of communication systems and equipment. All technical articles submitted will be considered by an Editorial Review Board of practising communication engineers.

Transmission, processing, handling and display of information will be our areas of interest. Industry, common carriers, the Department of Defense will be our audience.

To learn today — of the systems and technology of tomorrow — complete the attached card.

P.S. Technical articles are now being reviewed for our future issues; Write for an Author's Guide.
